If the world were a village

written by David J. Smith ; illustrated by Shelagh Armstrong.

To accompany the text on globalization, this book breaks down the population of the world into a collection of one hundred representative people and describes what one would find in this global village, covering languages, ages, religions, food, air and water, schooling, and possessions, accompanied...

Crab cake : turning the tide together

Tsurumi, Andrea, author.

When faced with an environmental disaster, not of their own making, the undersea community must decide how to cope.

It Wasn't Me

Levy, Dana Alison

This middle grade fiction book explores what restorative justice looks like in action as it tries to piece together who is guilty for a mysterious act of vandalism.

It wasn't me

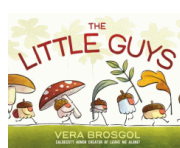

Levy, Dana Alison, author.

Cheese belongs to you!

Alexis Deacon ; illustrated by Viviane Schwarz.

This sweet, humorous picture book takes the moral proposition that might makes right to its absurd extreme and explores what might be a better way.

The Little Guys

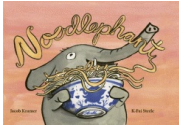

Brosgol, Vera

Using determined imps and adorable forest creatures, this book goes beyond the idea that through unity we are strong to explore the perils of taking more than we deserve. Excerpt from Booklist's starred review: "The animals' willingness to forgive the Little Guys their trespasses adds a peacemaking..."
