

Baby and Toddler Story Time at Milliken Mills - Jan 18th - Let's Get Dressed

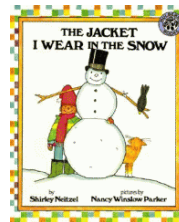

Books that highlight play, games or pretend to support the pre-literacy activity of "playing." Children develop their oral language skills and their ability to think symbolically through play. They also learn about narrative structure, which will later help them understand what they read. Playing helps children learn about the world and it's just fun to do!

Created by AntheaB

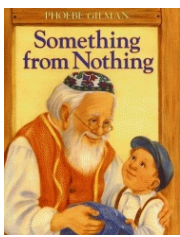

Ready for winter

Marthe Jocelyn. --

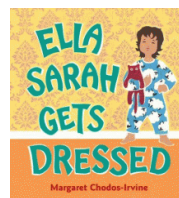

The jacket I wear in the snow

by Shirley Neitzel ; pictures by Nancy Winslow Parker. --

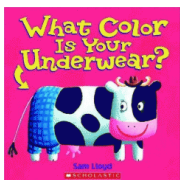

Something from nothing

Phoebe Gilman. --

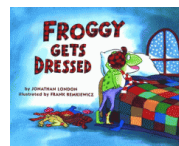

Ella Sarah gets dressed

Margaret Chodos-Irvine. --

What color is your underwear?

Sam Lloyd.

Froggy gets dressed

by Jonathan London ; illustrated by Frank Remkiewicz. --